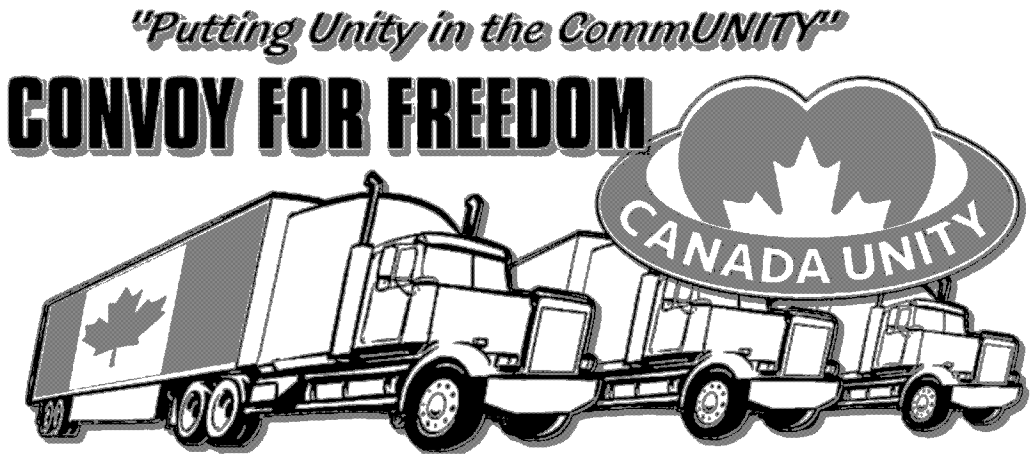
Report Number: HCEIT 010-22 - Canada Unity Convoy 2

BACKGROUND



From late September to early November 2021, a convoy of vehicles originating from Alberta drove to Ottawa and then held about a month of small organizing events throughout Ontario. The leader, James BAUDER, spent a couple of months regrouping and is now organizing another convoy, but this one appears to be bigger. Recent regulation changes requiring truckers on both sides of the U.S.-Canada border to be fully vaccinated to cross the border is fueling this latest round of outrage from the Covid Denialist movement. The trucker imagery is being used significantly for this initiative.

INFORMATION

The fall 2021 effort was called Operation [redacted], and it was put on by a group that calls itself Canada Unity. While BAUDER had grandiose visions of a large convoy, it turned into about 10-15 vehicles.

However, BAUDER appears to have built some type of coalition and is again promoting a large convoy of vehicles headed to Ottawa for Jan. 29. What does set this one apart from the first attempt, is the appearance of a larger coordinated effort and improved planning. This time there are convoys coordinated starting from B.C., Nova Scotia and Ontario. There are also listed coordinators at several points for each leg of the convoy.

Similar to the fall, the group is staging from the [redacted] in Arnprior, [redacted] Rd.

The west convoy starts first - as they have the longest way to travel.

West Itinerary
Jan. 22
North B.C.: Prince Rupert to Terrace to Houston to Prince George
Jan. 23
North B.C.: Prince George to McBride to Hinton to Edmonton to Calgary
West: Vancouver to Kamloops to Roger Pass to Calgary
(Two convoys merge)
Jan. 24
West: Calgary to Medicine Hat to Swift Current to Regina
Jan. 25
West: Regina to Brandon to Winnipeg to Kenora
Jan. 26
West: Kenora to Ignace to Thunder Bay
Jan. 27
West: Thunder Bay to Terrace Bay to Wawa to Sault Ste. Marie
Jan. 28
West: Sault Ste. Marie to Blind River to Sudbury to North Bay to Pembroke to Arnprior

There are several interesting names of note on the list of contacts. Pat KING had connections to the first Yellow Vest led United We Roll convoy in 2019 and has since been an influential figure in the Covid Denialist movement. While he has been a consistent loud voice in the patriot movement at large, he caught attention of the broader public for claiming he ended Covid-19 restrictions in Alberta the spring of 2021 during one of his many court proceedings. He did not in fact end public health restrictions.

Jason LEFACE is a target of a lot of Anti-Racist Sudbury's blog, in part due to his ties to the ethno-nationalist Soldiers of Odin. While he claims to have dissolved the group, as referenced in an apology letter he sent to the Anti-Racist Sudbury blog after tensions over a Black Lives Matter mural.

The East convoy starts on Jan. 27 In Enfield.

East Itinerary
Jan. 27: Enfield to Aulac to Moncton to Fredricton to Edmundston to Rivere-du-Loup
Jan. 28: Rivere-du-Loup to Quebec City to St. Liboire to Vankleek Hill
Jan. 29: Vankleek Hill to Ottawa

The East contingents is staging from Herb's Travel Plaza, [redacted], Vankleek Hill. They plan to arrive in Ottawa on Jan. 29 at 12:00. They are going to Confederation Park.

Once in Ottawa, the plan group appears to be converging on Confederation Park, as BAUDER did back in the fall of 2021. The action they plan to take in Ottawa is vague, some indications are they plan to protest once in Ottawa and likely on Parliament Hill. However, it is unclear if they are going to cause traffic problems with the vehicles they're bringing. One post suggests they may try to cause traffic snarls in Ottawa starting on Jan. 29. The vaccine mandate is a clear target of their anger.

REDACTED is a leader of the Durham region's Covid Denialist group. He posted about having people who support the truckers do banner drops over the 401 on Jan. 28 at 13:00 at Simcoe and the 401 in Oshawa.

According to Canada Unity, BAUDER, LEFACE and KING all plan to offer some kind of on the road updates online. This should provide some kind of insight into how many people are actually participating. There have been hyberbolic statements of tens of thousands of participants about this event.

ANALYSIS

Last time BAUDER came to Ottawa in a convoy, he stayed for more than a month. While it's unclear how long they plan on staying this time, if they have more numbers it may also be for an extended period. Especially because BAUDER appears to have developed contacts in Ontario.

Another factor to consider is the financing the group appears to have this time. Their GoFundMe page (https://www.gofundme.com/f/taking-back-our-freedom-convoy-2022) had $458,758 as of this writing, and hadn't yet hit their goal of $500,000.

It's unclear how many actual truckers will participate. Leaders or contacts like LEFACE, BAUDER, BRODMAN and KING aren't truckers, BAUDER drove an RV there last time. It does appear to be another instance of the Covid Denialist movement coopting an issue to fit their needs.

Turnout is tough to assess at this point, due to the lack of reliable sources online. However, it should be easier to assess when the convoy starts on Jan. 23.

The groups listed on Canada Unity's website as participating are very clearly Covid Denialist type groups. While they may have supporters within the trucking industry, this is another example of this patriot movement trying to make an argument by coopting somone else's concerns.
